

THE WOMEN'S CHAMPION WIELDS

The pictures on this page, running in sequence across the page, show Miss Glenna Collett from the top of the backswing to hitting the ball in playing a niblick from a sandtrap. In Number 1, the pivot has thrust most of the weight to the right, and as the club is brought down, the weight is transferred back onto the left leg. Also here is another fine example of hitting past the chin

HER NIBLICK AND HER MIDIRON

This series of pictures of Miss Collett, taken from a different view, shows her in that part of the swing from the top to the point where the hands have traveled as far out in the direction the ball is hit as the arms will permit. Note the shifting of the weight from right to left as the club is swung down and through the ball; also chin position until the ball has been hit
